NO SUPPORT FOR GOVERNOR'S TAX PROGRAM

The Selectmen in Wilmington, as in other towns of Massachusetts, have on occasion complained that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts offers no relief to the tax burdened cities and towns.

Monday night the Selectmen had an opportunity to do something about their complaint and they laid it on the table (i.e. bypassed the opportunity).

The Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns had sent a letter to the Selectmen, asking that they adopt a resolution indicating their support of Governor Peabody's property tax relief legislation.

On motion of John Brooks it was tabled, 'for further study'.

LITTLE LEAGUE CLEANUP THIS WEEKEND

The Wilmington Little League, with more teams and two fields this year, is facing a major problem if it is to be ready for Opening Day, May 25th.

Next Saturday afternoon, and Sunday afternoon have been declared LITTLE LEAGUE CLEANUP, at the Little League ball field behind the Glen Road School. Dads and Friends are asked, begged, implored, and entreated by Little League Officials to come down with a rake or other tool, and help for a few hours. The work parties will be from 1 pm to 5 pm, on both the major and Minor League fields.

A week from Saturday the Little League will have its official opener with three games, each of three innings, with the six major league teams taking part.

There will be a parade from the Mc Namara Tire Company plant on Main Street to the Little League Grounds, starting at 1 pm.

The Wonderful High School Band will be there, with the Crusader Drum and Bugle Corps, and the High School Drum Majorettes. Hizzonner Mayor George Spanos will, of course, lead the parade.

Regular competition in the major and minor leagues is to begin on the 27th of May.

WILMINGTON LIONS TAKE TOP DISTRICT AWARD

The Wilmington Lions Club was judged the best club in District 33-N last week-end, at the annual state convention of Lions Club.

Rene Larivee, President of the club accepted the plaque from District Governor William E. Bloom of Wakefield.

The Wilmington Club was sponsored by Woburn eight years ago at the first tri-charter meeting in the history of Lions International. Other clubs sponsored at the same time were Stoneham and Winchester, with Woburn being the parent club.

The award was for the most outstanding club of the 47 in the district in northeastern Massachusetts.

BALL PARK STILL 'IN THE AIR'

With the Board of Water Commissioners now in charge of the former Town Park, the question of what is to be done for a town baseball field had come up for discussion in several boards during the past week.

The Permanent Building Committee is proposing that an additional $5000 be spent, in back of the proposed Woburn Street school, presumably for a regulation sized ball park.

The Board of Water Commissioners, last Thursday night, said that they were not interested in trying to take away the ball field in the former Town Park, but had to obey whatever regulations the State Department of Public Health might make.

Town Manager Jerry Bouchard

wrote notes to the Planning Board which were read in Tuesday night's meeting asking that the Planning Board consider the making of two Little League sized ball fields in back of the Whitefield School, and secondly that they investigate the possibility of a ball field in back of the Wildwood School.

Larry Cushing, Director of Recreational Activities, and Park Superintendent Francis Downs were at the meeting.

Mr. Cushing referred to an article in the Warrant for a town meeting last year, in which it was asked for money to build a ball field behind the Boutwell Street school, and said that $5000, at that time, could have built a field

AN ANSWER TO MRS PEDERSEN

Mrs Norman Pedersen of Federal Street has written a letter to the Town Crier, re the controversy of the "round" schools. It deserves an answer, and the Town Crier will attempt one.

The shape of any school has nothing to do with the educational facilities within, providing that there are warm, dry, roomy classrooms which lend themselves to the art of teaching.

If someone were to design a pyramidal shaped school that functioned best when set upside down, and it was (a) the most economical to build and (b) the most economical to operate then there would be good reason for adopting such a school building.

There are people who don't like the round schools for reasons they cannot describe. They "just don't like them".

One lady, speaking of this to the Town Crier finally rationalized that it was because she had been educated in schools with straight corridors, and she didn't like curved ones.

Children going to the round schools for their first experience in education have no such previous history, and no such previous prejudice.

Schools are designed to house classrooms, and all other facilities are secondary in their importance. One factor that is often overlooked is that many schools have an excess of corridor space - and corridor space costs just as much to build and maintain as does classroom space, but no teaching is ever done in corridors.

In the plans for the "first" Glen Road School, exposed to the people of Wilmington by the Town Crier, 36% of the total area was taken up by corridor or similar space.

In an average school, of conventional design, 20 to 25% of the total space is taken up by corridors, etc. In the Glen Road school, (the "round" one), if the Town Crier remembers correctly, the figure is about 12%.

This meant a considerable savings in cost of construction, and, projected into the proposed Woburn Street school, it would seem that something over $100,000 more is to be spent because there will be more corridors, and this with much smaller classrooms.

Uninformed sources are picking on every flaw trying to make the "round" schools look bad. They do not cite the similar instances in every other school that has been built in Wilmington, or in schools all over the Commonwealth.

There was water in the "gym" of the Swain School for the first seven years of its existence, every spring, and since then there has

by Sylvia Neilson

DEODORANT

I hope Connor's feat

been water on occasion, but no one points this out - it isn't in a "round" school.

The building inspector of Wilmington detected a flaw in the method of placing reinforcing steel, in the High School, during construction. He was doing his duty, quietly, and he may have saved many lives, but no one trumpets this.

The design of the Wildwood School rafters was such that they were built wrong, and if any person will take the trouble to look up, while in the cafeteria of that school, he will see the "extra" welding that was put in at a date after the construction of the beams, to give them the strength needed to support the roof.

No one raised a ruckus about that fact, and no one is expected to, because the truth is that in the construction of any large building errors are expected to occur, and to be corrected as they are discovered. That is why a "contingency fund" is always allocated, in the construction of school buildings.

The people of Wilmington are being subjected to a barrage of "True Facts" (whatever that is) which are in effect nothing but prejudicial and uninformed opinions. This is to be regretted.

One of these "true facts" is that it costs money to pump out the septic tanks of the Glen Road School.

The Glen Road school was built on a site already chosen, before the PBC started work. They had to adapt the septic tanks to the soil conditions that they found.

It cost $494 to pump out the septic tanks in the Glen Road School, in 1962. At the same time it cost $400 to pump out the Wildwood, and $280 at the Boutwell. Possibly the figures will differ next time.

Much is being made of the electrical bills of the "round" schools, without citing the lower fuel oil bills.

When the Glen Road School was designed an official of the electric light company (now no longer there) promised that there would be a "special" electric rate, which caused the committee to feel that it could save the town money by putting in an electric heater for the water for the dish washing machine.

Because the Boutwell School was started before there was any experience in the Glen Road School the same arrangement was made there.

Then it was learned that there would be no "special" rate, and the bills were admittedly high, as a result. In the Glen Road school the electric heater for dishwashing has since been removed, but not yet in the Boutwell, although

TOWN NOTES

Flowers

Spring has certainly broken out. Lillacs, apple blossoms, violets and dandelions!

We have been watching for the ladies who work in the Town Hall to get out and start things in their little flower garden, in front of the building, but so far its no dice!

Maybe Jerry thinks they should stay inside.

Fishing

This week it just seems to be so-so. No one has reported a big one anywhere, and those brookies in Lubbers Brook aren't worth bothering about.

Fountain Pen

There is the type of fellow who likes to swipe ashtrays and other souvenirs, especially if it has a famous name, so he can boast about it.

He is countered by the individual who has things made bearing a legend saying 'Stolen from Paul Smith' or something like that.

Halfway between is a small fountain pen that is now being sold in Ames News Store, for 29¢ we believe. It says 'This pen belongs to a person from Wilmington, Mass', which is one way of letting some total stranger know there is such a place.

The Stone Thrower

We have heard nothing more of the person who threw a few stones through windows, at Hathaway Acres, but one of the milkmen is going around with a story about seven windows being broken. We wonder if he just drinks milk.

Answer No. One

Since TM Jerry Bouchard came to Wilmington the Town Crier has been constantly asked questions about him, with three questions seeming to predominate.

Our answer to two of them is to wait a year, and maybe we'll know too.

But the answer to the third one happened this week.

this is to be done. Admittedly there was an error, like the beams in the Wildwood School, but it was an honest error and it is being corrected.

One thing that does count is the fuel oil costs. In the "round" school the heating is assisted by forced draft electric fans, which does increase the electrical costs, but which also saves even more money in fuel oil bills. Fuel oil, in the Wildwood School, cost $3406 in 1962, and in the same period it cost $1,575 in the Glen Road School.

The round schools are more economical to build, and more economical to operate, and it is to be regretted that prejudices are blinding the eyes of some people.

The janitorial costs of the round schools, compared to the conventional ones, are significant. The Wildwood School, with three more classrooms (15 against 12) costs $9000 a year for janitors. The round schools average about $5000. Project this over a 30 year period and it will amount to $120,000.

In safety nothing the Town Crier knows of will match the round schools.

In the conventional school children have several hundred feet of corridors, at times, to use before they get outside, in the event of a fire or other disaster. This is accentuated in the case of two story buildings, where stairways enter the picture.

In the Glen Road and Boutwell Street school no child is ever more than two doors from the outside, and without need of using the circular corridors. There are exits for every four class rooms, and between these exits, with connecting doors, there are emergency exits. It is a small point, admittedly, but it could be important.

Just remember, Mrs Pedersen, that a school should not be condemned because of its shape. The important factors are (1) Teaching Facilities, (2) original cost and (4) subsequent costs.

So far the "round" schools are just as good as any other in (1), and it has yet to be demonstrated that they do not excell in (2) and (3)

FINANCE COMMITTEE MEMBERS REAPPOINTED

Chairman Carl Gubellini, Ralph Biggar and Richard Barry, or the Finance Committee, members whose terms expired in 1963, have been reappointed to that committee, this week. All three men have qualified for their office.

JOHN BARRY TO ATTEND LOWELL TECH. INSTITUTE

John Barry Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arco Recchia of 164 Lake Street, Wilmington has been accepted at Lowell Tech. Institute in Sept. He will major in Chemical Engineering.

MORE TOWN NOTES

Jerry has bought a home. It is on North Street, and was built by George Vokey.

Jerry, Mrs Bouchard, and their two youngsters moved in last Sunday, which means that in something like eleven months they can have the somewhat dubious distinction of becoming voters in our great and glorious Commonwealth.

INDICTED OFFICIALS HAD PART IN 'CABINET MYSTERY'

Two State Housing Board officials who were indicted, last week, by the Suffolk County Grand Jury, had a part in the solution of the 'Cabinet Mystery of the Old Age Housing Project, on Deming Way, according to statements published in the Town Crier in April of 1962.

Housing Authority member James P. Donahue was attempting to 'solve' the mystery, which involved some forty cabinets for the kitchens of the apartments. Evidence showed that other cabinets than those which had been ordered had been placed in the kitchens. The contractor was claiming more money, his claim being part of a still larger claim, because of the cabinets.

Part of the mystery, which has never been explained, involved an allegedly forged signature of one of the Housing Authority members, and the substitution of 'original' plans, in the State Housing Office, in Boston.

Donahue related to the Housing Authority, on April 24th, that he and member Eddie Forrest had visited the State office during the preceding week, to inspect the plans, which were at that time found, after having been missing for a long time, and that the plans instead of bearing a date of 1958, when originally approved, had, (on the back) a stamp saying 'Received March 1, 1962'. Donahue drew the attention of one of the two indicted officials to this stamp, and, according to his report to the Housing Authority, the official 'only reddened'.

The other indicted official took part in a survey of the cabinets and other controversial items, at about the same time, at the Deming Way site of the Old Age Housing Project.

SELECTMEN ARE NOW 'REGULAR' EMPLOYEES

With a full board present, the Selectmen, Monday night, voted themselves to be 'Regular' employees of the town, under the provisions of the Conflict of Interest Law.

Selectman Charles Black, who had returned from his Florida vacation, was positive in his actions, as he started the discussion. Mr. Black told the other Selectmen that the Town Counsel should have been invited to attend, and that he was the person who would defend the town's officials and employees, if a mistake had been made.

Town Counsel Phillip Buzzell is not entirely in accord with the decisions that the Selectmen had made previously, Black said.

Mr. De Felice, who has given up the $900 a year contract his firm had with the Public Schools, made the motion that the Selectmen be 'Regular' employees - i.e. forbidden to do any business with the town, and it was seconded by Mrs. LaRivee, who consistently has held that Selectmen should only be classified as Regular.

The School Committee was a different matter. Black said that Buzzell had advised that the School Committee should be 'Regular' but John Brooks put up a spirited argument that they should be 'Special'. Mr. LaRivee moved that the School Committee be Regular, and Brooks broke in again to say that either classification covered the latter board. The School Committee could not pay bills, Brooks said, under the approval of the Selectmen, and he could not see why they should not be 'Special'. Black called for a vote, and Brooks and De Felice voted for 'Special' status, with the other three Selectmen carrying the day and making the School Committee 'Regular'.

LOWELL STREET FIRST

With Selectman Mrs. Wavie Drew dissenting, the Selectmen, Monday night, voted to widen Lowell St., between Woburn St. and West St., to a width of 36 feet, using Chapter 90 Funds, this summer.

The work will be put ahead of Ballardvale Street, which for the past two years has been scheduled to be widened under the Provisions of Chapter 90 (State pays one half, County one quarter, and Town one quarter).

The vote arose as a result of a report by TM Jerry Bouchard, who told the Selectmen that he was unable to get an 'easement' for a portion of Ballardvale Street, and that as a result drainage pipes would have to be laid, at estimated cost of $5000, all of which the town would have to pay.

Two easements had been obtained, Mr. Bouchard said, and the Selectmen talked about letting the 'press' know the situation, in order that the Ballardvale Street residents should know what was holding up the construction of that st.

(While no names were mentioned, all three easements are for property of Bob Evans. Mr. Evans gave two easements, but is reluctant to give the third, which is 20 feet wide, across the extent of his farmland, in an area where water pours down from a paved parking lot on the hillside. He has spent a considerable sum of money clearing stones etc from the farmland, and doesn't want to see a gully develop, for the half mile distance to the nearest

MIDDLESEX CANAL HOUR SATURDAY AFTERNOON

A tour of the Middlesex Canal, Saturday, at 2 p.m., in the 'Town Park' area, is being sponsored by the Middlesex Canal Association, of Billerica.

Boy Scout Troop 56 of Wilmington, under the leadership of Scout Leaders Alanson Platt and Phil Andrews, are to take a part in the activities, which will include a viewing of the old aqueduct over Maple Meadow Brook, and a tour of the old 'Ox-Bow' as the canal wound around the hill.

drainage ditch). (Evans pointed out to the Town Crier that the town could probably prepare a 'gutter' which would catch the water coming down from the hill, and not cause it to go across his farm land. The gutter could run to a drain-hole system which is being prepared, several hundred feet away).

Mrs. Drew pointed out that the residents of Ballardvale Street had been promised that they would be first, in Chapter 90 work. She didn't think the town should do otherwise.

Selectman John Brooks, in some ringing phrases, said that he had been a proponent of Ballardvale Street, over considerable opposition, but that he considered the Lowell Street project, of first importance, because of the traffic problem at Avco.

Avco, he said, was Wilmington's principal taxpayer, and the top boards there had told him that unless the traffic problem was solved Avco would be doing its future building elsewhere.

Rene LaRivee pointed out that there are other taxpayers too, on Lowell Street, and that he has seen three lanes going one way, at the corner of Lowell and Woburn - one turning to the left, one going to the right, and the middle lane proceeding down Lowell Street.

LETTER

Dear Larz:

As a new comer to Wilmington, I have been interested in the round vs. square school controversy, and have heard the rumors that the round schools are very expensive to maintain. In the past two weeks some of these expenses have come to light.

The first were those in the two-part 'expose' of the round schools which ran in The Crusader. It first quoted the higher electrical bills of the Glen Road and Boutwell schools as compared to the Wildwood school. Now electrical bills depend on what equipment these schools have that used electricity, not on the shape of the schools. Therefore from the higher costs of the two round schools, I would be led to assume that they are more extensively equipped and better equipped than the older Wildwood school, not that they use more electricity because they are round. The article moves on to quote fuel bills for the Jan-

May 1962 time period. If one takes the Wildwood figure of $1412.01 as a base, then this amounts to $94.13 per classroom. This would give a projected fuel cost for the two 12 room schools of $1129.56. Instead, they are $1106.66 for Glen Road and $1081.18 for Boutwell, both of which are less than the expected figure and therefore more economical. The other things mentioned in the article, such as heating systems, fuel systems, door locks, etc. have nothing to do with the shape of the schools but rather with the quality of engineering and construction. Also, with the exception of the High School, I know of no school in Wilmington which has been expanded in recent years. The trend seems to be to keep building more schools, so why the concern about the expandability of the round schools? For that matter, if, as the article states, the Wildwood school is so easily expanded, why not do it now instead of building a new school?

Secondly these upkeep costs, the figures given by Mr. Michelson of the Permanent Building Committee, were quoted in your paper. These covered electricity, fuel, janitorial services, furnace repairs, and cesspool cleaning and were: Wildwood, $15,142.28; Glen Rd. $10,327.71; Boutwell, $11,590.34. Again, dividing the Wildwood figure by 15 and multiplying by 12, one finds the expected figure for the cost of maintaining the two round schools to be $12,033.84 each. Therefore the Glen Road school was more economical by $1706.13 and the Boutwell School by $443.50. These two schools saved the taxpayers an average of $1074.81 each in 1962 as compared to the more conventional Wildwood school.

Further, we are trying to provide a place where our children will be educated, not a beautiful expensive second home and playground. It is my feeling that the people of Wilmington should consider how money for schools and education should be spent, whether they want expensive schools as monuments to their generosity, or more economical and simple schools with well paid teachers of high calibre. A building has never taught a child to read, to wonder about nature and the world around him, and how to find his place in that world which will most highly challenge and satisfy him.

Yours,
Jeanne Pederson

PONY LEAGUE OPENER SATURDAY

The Wilmington Pony League will get under way with its first game of the season, Saturday, at Stoneham.

The Wildcats, last years Reading Pony League Champs, travel to Stoneham to meet the Falcons at 10 am, and the Wilmington Mavericks travel to Stoneham to tangle with the Eagles in the afternoon.

The first play of the season, in Wilmington, which will officially open the season for the Wilmington Pony League, will be next Tuesday, at 6 pm, when the Mavericks and the Wildcats meet on the field behind the High School. The public is urged to get out and support their Wilmington clubs.

The Pony League is to have a meeting tomorrow evening at the home of League President Roland Wood, 8 Lockwood Road, No. Wilmington. The meeting starts at 8 pm. Parents of youngsters participating in the league and any other interested persons are welcome.

Sunday at 10 am. there is to be a walk along the banks of the canal, in North Billerica, starting at the Talbot Mills, to which participants are advised to bring lunches, and a further walk is planned on June 15th from North Billerica towards Chelmsford.

BALL PARK (Fr. Fr. Pg)

but that today it would cost more money, because the trucks and tractors would have to cross finished property.

He did not believe it feasible to consider the building of a ball field behind the Wildwood School, because of all the rock outcroppings. 'It would be too expensive' he said.

Cushing observed that there seemed to be a lack of cooperation between departments, when it wasn't known that the ballfield in the Town Park was to go until recently. 'You can't tell me,' he said, 'that the water (in the new proposed wellfield) isn't good 100 feet further away from a ballfield that is worth $35 to $40,000. If we can only move it back a little we won't have to build another ballfield somewhere else'.

Cushing also felt that a playground should have been put behind the North School 'when we had a chance'. The playground was voted down, on Finance Committee recommendations, at a town meeting of last year.

'PEACE WALK' THRU WILMINGTON

Half a dozen members of the New England Committee for Non-violent Action marched through Wilmington Sunday, on their way to Rome, New York, where they would join others in their organization who intended to walk to Miami, Florida, and then go to Cuba, and walk the length of that island, to Guantanamo Bay.

The Peace Walk group were escorted by a Police Cruiser, while in Wilmington. Some of them were stoned by bystanders, in the next town of Tewksbury.

The organization, which has its New England headquarters at Voluntown, Connecticut, uses the letters CNVA to identify itself.

It was this organization which picketed the Atomic Submarines at Holy Loch, in Scotland, and which conducted a San Francisco to Moscow Walk, in the interests of Peace.

Paul Bodenstein, Wilmington School Teacher, whose curiosity often moves him to make strange acquaintances, invited some of the 'walkers' to his home for supper, and then afterwards took three of them to a Young Folks meeting at the Methodist Church. He stated that he was not endorsing them, but he did want to hear what they had to say.

One of the trio was Paul Band, 25, of Cambridge, and electronics technician employed in Boston, and a native of Munich, Germany, who came to this country as a young boy, with his parents. He told his listeners that he had been attracted to the organization while on a visit to New York City, and that the organization favors Civil Disobedience, if necessary, for the purpose of stopping war.

The youngest of the groups was 19 year old Eric Robinson, who was born in a small town in northern California.

Robinson has participated in several marches, one of the more recent being a Peace March from San Diego to San Francisco, viz the Coast Route of California. He always marches in sneakers, as he says they are more comfortable, and he reported that he averaged 200 miles to a pair of sneakers.
